Both Ann and Caleb were absolutely sure that they would always implicitly trust God with every aspect of their life. that is until they were faced with losing everything they had worked for. Both were stunned by the questions which filled their every thought and caused them to cry out asking God why they had to face their difficult circumstances. But as God worked in their lives through a serious accident, through the people who loved them, and through the length of time it would take to heal, they began to understand how God can bring a blessing from every circumstance and how their spiritual life blossomed from what had occurred. This novel is another lovely story by Helen Glowacki and a part of the wonderful saga about the legacy of faith which Grandma had given her family. This item ships from multiple locations.
