Excerpt: .If you can get fresh tomatoes so much the better. They must be boiled separately without water, with a very little bit of butter, and, when quite done, pass them through a sieve. Add them to the sauce, letting all stew slowly by the fire for some minutes before serving. stew till quite tender, and serve very hot with rice done as follows: --CHICKENS a la Bresilienne. Cut up the fowl into pieces, and fry them a light brown. Chop up very fine some chives or green onions and parsley. Put them into a stewpan with the fowl, a cup of gravy or broth, two cloves of garlic pounded with an iron spoon, and two or three tablespoonsful of bacon fat. The latter must be made by frying some fat bacon till burnt to a chip, and the juice poured off when quite dark;...
