In search of my own brand of manhood, I quit school at age 17 and joined the Army. Being stationed in Okinawa working in a clerks office, where I probably could have spent the rest of my tour but feeling I wanted to do more, I decided at age 18 to sign up for a tour in Vietnam. I have never regretted it. The things I saw and the valuable lessons I learned helped me accomplish what I set out to do, going from a fresh-faced boy to a grown man. Once my tour in Vietnam was over my civilian life just didnt seem to totally fulfill my expectations, so I joined the Army Reserves and eventually became a Drill Instructor, another decision I have never regretted. The story starts with my restlessness in high school, looking for new and exciting venues than I was experiencing in Indiana. Its the story of my journey from being a young boy in the Midwest to becoming a man in the US Army. I truly believe the Army did help me...
