From the day that the remedy was first taken the pustules diminished in volume and number, and soon disappeared altogether. The bowels, which had previously been costive, were rendered open and regular, though the glycerine by no means acted as apurgative. M. Gubler suggests its use in cases where the cerumen has accumulated in the ear. (Lyon Medicales, 1870) CASTRATION IN EPILEPSY.--Dr. Mackenzie Bacon sends us the following: -- In the Practitioner for June 1869, I mentioned a case in which I had removed the testes of an epileptic lad in whom I had reason to think the fits were mainly due to sexual excitement, kept up by his bad habits. At the time I wrote six months had elapsed since the operation, and a marked improvement had been observed. It may be interesting to give the sequel, as...
