I - Executive Summary 5 items but do not participate extensively l in the international export market. Most space-capable nations have sought to use their space assets as political instruments for cementing ties with friends and allies and for winning new friends and influence in the developing world. Space-related international commerce is likely to increase in the next decade, but, except for sat-ellite communications, will continue to be shaped more by the political, military, and economic in-terests of national governments than by market In the satellite communications developments. sector, which has become part of the larger tele-communications industry, technology-driven market developments are forcing governments to change their regulatory structures. The emergence of foreign competition presents both a challenge and an opportunity to the United States. The European Space Agency (ESA), which pools...
